Joey,

Just wanted to follow-up on our discussion this morning regarding the need for revised monitoring plans for the Bull/Pound/Powell/Levisa TMDLs. I spoke with Helene, and we agreed that a revised monitoring plan will not be required before EPA can approve the phased TMDLs. I understand, given the current workload, that a monitoring plan might not be available before the May 1 deadline. That said, it would be good to develop a more detailed monitoring plan for each of the TMDL watersheds as soon as possible so that the data needed to revise the TMDLs can begin to be collected.

If you like, we can certainly have follow-up discussions on this after the phased TMDLs get submitted/approved.

Thanks,

Greg
